All Passengers Removed From Stranded Dixie

Thrilling Rescue Of Passengers From Storm Battered Ship Is Completed

MAJORITY WILL LAND AT MIAMI

No Details Of Rescue Work
Given In Brief Radio Report From Ship

(International News Service)
MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 5.—Without loss of life or a single serious injury, one of the thrilling rescues in American maritime annals was completed here today with the removal of the last passenger from the hurricane-battered Morgan liner, Dixie, aground on French Key, 60 miles south of here since Monday night.

Word of the removal of the last of the passengers from the wave-lashed ship was flashed from the Dixie at 9:43 a. m. (E. S. T.) in a message picked up here by Tropical Radio.

No Longer Needed

A short time later a message was picked up by coast guard station from the master of the Pandora, quoting Capt. E. W. Sundstrom, of the Dixie, as saying the coast guard vessels no longer were needed.

When the message was sent, only

PANECW OBSERVES

One week from tomorrow night and New Castle high school footballers will be embarking on another gridiron season. Braddock high will be met in the opener at Taggart stadium, the encounter being one under the electric lights.

So far as Panecw can determine, nothing has been done towards replacing the many street signs which have proven defective. Some of the signs, erected last spring, are in such condition now that they can hardly be read.

Dear Pa Newc:

In Gaston Park Saturday night at twelve thirty, I watched some night hawks flying high in the star-lit sky. The birds actions were different than in the spring. As the night hawk feeds on insects that fly at night the cool nights of the past few days have rid the sky of moths and other bugs, so seeking food at this time the night bird is more daring. I saw a dozen or more birds soar up high, then drop in a slanting line for a distance of more than sixty feet. It seemed as if the birds would crash into the tree tops, so eager were they in seeking food. The migration flame kindles early in the breast of the night hawk and about the second week of September as dusk has covered the land the night hawks will gather in large flocks over some quiet marsh, and high above it they will do their last sky ride of the season here and then be off to the Tropics from which they came in April—I have noticed the first signs of fall in the woods. The dogwood leaves are carrying faint tips of color and the berry pods are turning a bright red.

There will probably be a record number of marriage licenses issued in Lawrence county this month as it is the last before the new law goes into effect whereby three days' application has to be made before licenses are granted.

The two were captured at a chicken ranch near Allendale, Fla. Federal men hid a two-year-old boy they said was adopted several months ago by the couple to lend respectability to their hideout. Weaver, out on parole two years ago after a murder conviction, jumped bail after his arrest at that time.

Hold Fugitive From Chain Gang

Georgia Fugitive Is Taken
By New Castle Police Officers

WAS SERVING
LIFE SENTENCE

Ramond Mosbey, alias Bozer, 105 Lawrence street, after being arrested by Cruiser Operators Hanna and Kennedy last night, confessed to Chief of detectives W. G. McMullen and detectives that he escaped from a chain gang in Georgia several years ago. He was serving a life sentence for the murder of Mitchell Martin, at Griffin, Ga. Mosbey told the police. The prisoner was remanded to the county jail pending word from officials of Spalding county, Ga. Mosbey is colored.

According to Mosbey, Martin, also colored, stabbed him with a knife in 1929 and Mosbey killed Martin with a rock. He was sentenced in November, 1929, to serve a life sentence. He was placed on the chain gang and after serving two and one half years he made a dash for liberty. A bullet from a guard's gun injured him.

National Guard Troops Are Called In Storm Areas

(International News Service)
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 5.—National guard troops and medical aid are now in both the upper and lower portions of the hurricane devastated Matecumbe Key, according to a radio message received here this morning by the coast guard radio station from the coast guard patrol boat No. 244.

All the injured are being taken to Snake creek to be rushed by ambulance to Miami hospitals, the message stated.

National guard troops and relief workers are gathering the bodies of the dead victims.

ADDIS ABABA READY FOR WAR

Aerial Attack Is Anticipated

War Munitions Are Removed From City By Ethiopian Army

EVACUATION MOVE NEARS COMPLETION

(BULLETIN)
(Copyright, 1935, By International News Service)
ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 5.—Convinced Italy's first major step in hostilities against Ethiopia will be an aerial bombardment of the capital, munitions and other war supplies are being rushed out of Addis Ababa and stored in arsenals throughout the western country, it was learned today.
One of the highest officers of the Ethiopian army disclosed the measure had been undertaken to safeguard war materials despite the fact it will leave the civilian population helpless prey to enemy bombers.
"The Italians say they will bomb Addis Ababa," the officer said.
"Let them go ahead—we have taken steps to move our war materials. They will be unable to destroy anything of military value. The victims will be civilians and the damage confined to palaces, churches and houses."

Under Way For Month.
Evacuation of war materials, it was learned, has been under way for a month. Every night huge stores have been moved out under cover of darkness by mule, horse and lorry. Because of a public curfew enforced from 7:30 p. m. little difficulty has been encountered in shrouding the movements in secrecy.
Meanwhile, it was learned Col. Hubert Fauntleroy Julian, the Harlem aviator who once cherished trans-Atlantic flight hopes, has given up his post as officer in command of the Ethiopian air force because the emperor's planes would be useless in warfare. All, it was said, are many years old.
He remains one of Emperor Haile Selassie's "right hand men," however, having been appointed commander-in-chief of the Ambo garison. This will be used as advance headquarters for concentration of western Ethiopian forces.
Col. Julian is training his men along strictly European lines.

DISARMAMENT PLAN
Poet—I have a poem here advocating peace.
Editor—I suppose that you honestly and sincerely desire peace?
Poet—Yes.
Editor—Then burn the poem.

Toni—I'd face a dragon in order to win that girl, just as the knights did in the olden days.
Jack—Well, you may have to. You haven't seen her mother yet.

TELLS OF HAVOC WROUGHT BY TIDAL WAVE IN FLORIDA

about 50 to 60 miles an hour, may be more, flying timbers whistled through the air, causing many of the casualties. With the aid of a flashlight I made my way to the railroad grade, the highest point available. I reached a high bank about 150 yards away after being knocked down several times by timbers. I huddled under a rock wall about four feet high with a bunch of other men.

Only Point Above Water
The water was still rising and we stumbled over the railroad grade and dug holes under the cross ties to protect ourselves from the flying timbers. This was the only thing that saved our lives. We stayed there until about 3 a. m. It was the only point on the island above water.

At daybreak Tuesday we found a tank car filled with water which gave up refuge from the wind and flying debris. We built a fire and made coffee and did what we could for those seriously injured. Late in the afternoon we were rescued by Buck Wright, FERA official, and several others who took us across Snake Creek in a rowboat, one at a time. We were then brought to the mainland by truck.

One of those killed in the collapse of Snake Creek bridge hotel was Dr. E. C. Main, camp medical director. I saw him die. He was my best friend.

57 members of the crew—including Capt. Sundstrom—remained on the battered Dixie.

The sea-going tug, Warbler, still remained beside the stranded vessel.

It was not known here when the remaining passengers from the Dixie would be brought to shore by the rescue ships.

Reports Evacuation

New York, Sept. 5.—Marking successful averted of a threatened major sea disaster, all passengers were removed today from the stricken liner Dixie.

Capt. E. W. Sundstrom reported the evacuation by radio to the Morgan Line here. His message read: "All passengers and crew that were to go off at 8:50."

The announcement that all passengers had been removed came from Capt. E. W. Sundstrom of the Dixie.

The message was received at 9:42 a. m., E. S. T.

No details concerning the rescue were given in the radio dispatch, and it was not known here what ships the remaining passengers were aboard.

The majority, it was believed, will probably land at Miami later today from the coast guard cutter Carabasset and the Morgan ships El Mundo and El Occidente.

FIRST OF RESCUED DIXIE PASSENGERS LANDED AT MIAMI

Twenty additional passengers were reported aboard the S. S. Atemas, bound for Charleston, S. C.; 10 were aboard the Reaper, with the next port of call Wilmington, Del.

Efforts to transfer the remaining passengers from the Dixie to rescue craft, halted at seven p. m. last night due to fresh southwest winds and rain, were to be renewed today.

Bring Harrowing Tales

The rescued passengers, many still clad in the gay sports clothes which they were wearing when the West Indian hurricane which left a death toll of at least 300 in the Florida Keys struck the vessel, brought harrowing tales of their experience.

The Dixie's pleasure cruise from New Orleans to New York was abruptly changed to stark tragedy Monday afternoon when the ship, steaming through sunny tropical seas, was suddenly beset by the hurricane, the passengers revealed.

The storm struck when the passengers were at lunch. They donned life belts.

Swept by mountainous seas, the Dixie's lifeboats were smashed, its salon and cabins flooded, ports smashed and the superstructure badly damaged, the passengers said.

Driven Aground

The Dixie was driven aground late Monday afternoon after being buffeted by winds with an estimated velocity of 120 miles an hour. The vessel's lighting system was temporarily put out of commission and radio antenna smashed.

Edward B. Brommell of New York City gave a graphic account of his experience.

"The battered condition of the vessel, which lost all its small boats, and its superstructure swept away, is proof of what we went through," Brommell said.

"For four hours we huddled together in absolute darkness in the ship salon while four inches of water splashed over seats. We were driven on the reef late Monday afternoon after being buffeted by winds which, ship officers said, reached 120 miles an hour."

"The lights were short-circuited. A small blaze started, but was quickly extinguished by the crew. Fortunately no passengers were severely injured, though several were bruised."

"James Ross, the second mate, had two fractured fingers and fractured ribs."

Father F. A. Wakeman, Catholic priest of San Diego, Calif., told how he "clung to one place in the ship and prayed for five hours."

"Those of Catholic faith came and knelt and confessed to me while I gave absolution," he said.

"I firmly believe the ship would have been lost had we not been driven on the reef."

Clad in life belts, the passengers crowded the ship salon and sang songs and played musical instruments during the height of the storm, Isaac M. Nobel of San Francisco and New York, said.

"I was cut on the foot by a piece of broken glass as the windows were smashed by the terrific force of the waves," Nobel related. "When we received orders to don life belts I was resigned to die. It was dark at 4:30 p. m. and when the lights went off we sang and played music to avert panic. The rescue boats were the grandest sight I've ever seen."

MATCHES POSTPONED

(International News Service)
FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 5.—The men's and women's national singles tennis championship matches were postponed today because of rain for the fourth consecutive day.

With rain forecast for tomorrow, it is probable the championships will not be decided before the middle of next week.

NO INDIGESTION FOR 6 MONTHS

Indo-Vin Brought Certain, Lasting Relief From Misery

The real test of any medicine is proof that it brings lasting relief, as in the case of Mrs. M. Prostko, of 639 Woodward Ave. (near McKees Rock (near Pittsburgh), who says: "It is wonderful to be free of stomach trouble, in fact, I have been out of misery for over six months, since I took Indo-Vin that long ago, and my trouble."

MRS. PROSTKO has never returned. I was a great victim of stomach trouble. My stomach was always upset and I was simply FULL of gas after my meals and so tight and stuffy with gas in my chest that I could hardly even BREATHE, and this gas even had its effect on my heart and the least little thing would exhaust me and take my breath away. I took all kinds of medicines but nothing ever acted on me. Then I read about Indo-Vin and got it, and I simply BLESS the DAY I found this great medicine. It cleared the gas and bloating from my stomach organs and stopped that stuffy feeling in my chest and around my heart. I never get exhausted nor have that trouble with shortness of breath any more. And as I said before, my trouble hasn't returned for over six months." You can now get Indo-Vin at Eckerd's Drug Store, here in New Castle, and from all good druggists throughout this whole section.

HE READ HIS NAME ON WAR MEMORIAL

(International News Service)
PARIS.—An exsoldier, M. Paul Oudar, visiting the former battlefield of Chénouais-Auboncourt, in the Ardennes, where he lost a number of the comrades he had made in the trenches, was much taken aback to see his own name on the war memorial.

M. Oudar remembers that in the height of the battle, he dropped his pack, containing his papers, and he supposes that it must have fallen near a dead man who was buried in his name.

THREE HUNDRED ARE KNOWN DEAD IN FLORIDA STORM

deaths were reported in the area to add to the increasing toll of fatalities in the Florida Keys where the storm wreaked its greatest destructive force.

Centers In Georgia
This morning the center of the storm had moved into the southern edge of Georgia.

The weather bureau's 2 a. m. advisory located the storm "central over extreme south Georgia, moving northward or north northeasterly, decreasing slowly in intensity but still attended by shifting gales over the area."

Communications were down in its path through north central Florida in the vicinity of Madison and Jasper.

Meanwhile, South Florida sped succor to the isolated Keys south of Miami where the hurricane wiped out federal work encampments on three islands. The toll of death claimed by the destructive winds and accompanying tidal wave mounted as rescue workers penetrated further into the Keys.

Two hundred and seventy-nine war veterans, many of them members of the "bonus army," who were here on FERA rehabilitation projects, were known dead on upper and lower Matecumbe Keys. To these were added 21 civilians, drowned in the swirling waters that surged over Tavernier, or crushed by wind-driven timbers.

Death Toll 300
The total known dead early today was placed at 300.

From the Keys where the hurricane brought swift death and destruction, Dr. Joe Stewart, Jr., of Miami, who flew to aid the sufferers, radioed to Miami that he had counted 125 dead at FERA Camp No. 5 on Lower Matecumbe, 54 dead at Camp Three at Islamorada, and two dead at Camp 1, Key West.

Rescue crews pushed today further into the lower Keys, completely isolated and silent since the violent winds and tidal wave swept across the tiny dots of land Monday night.

One hundred and seventy-nine persons resided on Long, Yacaya and Cape Sable Keys, and it was feared word from these Keys would bring further additions to the toll of death claimed by the storm.

Approximately 300 persons were injured, many critically.

Bodies of the dead were being placed in hastily constructed crude pine coffins to be brought to Miami last night. Many of the dead were horribly mutilated, their bodies shattered by timber and sharp sheets of galvanized iron roofing material, hurled through the air with terrific force by the winds, making identification difficult.

Miami police planned to fingerprint all bodies to be forwarded to the war department in Washington for comparison with world war records.

Relief Work Slow

The almost complete destruction brought by the hurricane made relief effort tedious, slow and hazardous. The railroad line across the Keys to Key West was destroyed in many sections. Roads were washed out and bridges swept away. Many of the Keys could be reached only by boat. Buildings were crushed to splinters, many of the bodies of the dead being buried in the debris.

The irresistible force of the hurricane and accompanying tidal wave, which swept everything before it, was revealed today through eyewitness accounts of their harrowing experience by the few survivors.

A 15 foot wall of water swept over the Keys, picked up a nine-car train, dispatched hurriedly to the Keys to evacuate the workers at the FERA camps, and hurled it fifty yards away.

"There was a big wall of water 15 feet high, maybe 20," C. M. Morley, a war veteran and FERA worker at rehabilitation camp No. 1 on Snake Creek, who miraculously survived the storm, said. "It swept over those shacks and messed them up like they were match boxes."

Temporary Hospital Collapses
The Snake Creek hotel converted into a hospital housing 40 patients, about half of them women and children, collapsed, all but seven men and three or four women and children dying in the wreckage, Dr. Lassiter, Alexander reported.

Other survivors told the air being filled with flying timbers and sheet iron, taking heavy toll of those who had escaped the tidal wave and collapse of buildings.

"I saw bodies with tree stumps severed through their chests, heads severed, arms and legs torn off by flying debris that cut like huge knives," Charles Van Vechten a survivor said.

An urgent appeal for funds to aid the relief work was made by the Red Cross.

Governor Dave Sholtz ordered the state militia mobilized to aid where needed in the storm area.

Extensive damage to fruit and produce crops was feared today as the storm diminished in force, swept over the Florida citrus belt into southern Georgia.

Communications were paralyzed for hours on the west coast in the Tampa Bay area which the storm raked after traveling up the gulf following its lethal swipe at the Keys, from Cedar Keys, north of Tampa, the winds curved inland along northeasterly path, centering last night near Madison, Fla. in the north central portion of the state.

Otherwise, he said, it will drift into the unwieldy procedure of the assembly, which convenes on Monday. The committee would be strictly part of the council and empowered to report to the council only.

Captain Anthony Eden, British delegate, entertained all the chief delegates at luncheon except the representatives of Italy and Ethiopia.

got to the car but most couldn't hear me. Finally there were about 30 of us clinging there half-drowned. When the storm let up a bit we fought our way to the south end of Snake creek embankment. When the rescuers arrived we were ferried across Snake creek in a rowboat and brought here in trucks.

the suit which inquires whether processing taxes are legal if intended to regulate the economic order rather than raise revenue.

Mr. Roosevelt is represented by his intimates as anticipating a further set-back at the hands of the supreme court. In the meantime, he is taking the position that he is trying to repair the system of government rather than remodel the constitution.

Personally, the president rather resents the idea he is indulging in any political deliberations here in Hyde Park. He chided the newspapermen for writing "bunkey" stories to that effect.

Postmaster General James A. Farley, who conferred with him yesterday, readily conceded, however, that he had been discussing in general the president's forthcoming speaking tour across the country.

Today, Mr. Roosevelt's visitors included Representative Sirovich (D, N. Y.), James Townsend, Democratic chairman of Dutchess county, N. Y., and Federal Judge Murray Hulbert, of New York.

MORE THAN VALIDITY

CONSTITUTIONALITY of the AAA and the TVA should be judicially determined in the next few months. That is a reasonable expectation now that the government in one suit and the Alabama Power Co. in another have brought the cases to the supreme court. But it should not be assumed that the decisions will bar further litigation. The situation is beclouded by the amendments just passed by both acts.

These suits are merely the forerunners of a flock of others that will be moving toward the supreme court to test new deal devices put through in the last few months. In the process attention, naturally, will be centered on the constitutionality phase, but sight should not be lost of the political and economic principles involved.

The Roosevelt philosophy is centralized federation. We already have proof enough that there is no telling where government control, once established, with stop. Regulation of the potato crop, for example, is the result of the weird circumstance created by corn and cotton regulation. Land formerly planted to these is now being used to raise potatoes and so the regular producer of the latter commodity, fearing the effect upon his livelihood, seeks government protection by the same instrument. The purpose to spike the other fellows is plain from the provision that if you didn't grow spuds last year, you can't grow them this year. The vigorous protest from some potato growers to the late halter put about their necks is, however, a healthy sign.

As with potatoes, so with coal, only in reverse form. For when the Guffey bill, now a law, was before the senate an attempt was made to slip in an amendment to levy a special tax on the oil producer. Why? To offset the advantage that will accrue to oil through the rise in price that the Guffey law will put upon soft coal. The amendment was beaten, but it will appear again.

So with the rest of the new deal program. One step forces another, and each entwines us in more red tape regulation. That isn't the worst of it. All the time bureaucracy, with its devastating effects, is being expanded. That is the real menace. Combating it is not the court's, but the people's, job.

MANICURES FOR MENTAL MISFITS

Operation of a beauty parlor in a Missouri hospital for the insane, as part of a curative treatment for women patients, is out of the ordinary. Yet the value of pride in one's appearance as a mental stimulant is well proven.

Many women have found that there is nothing quite like a facial, a permanent and a manicure to lift them out of the doldrums, raise their morale and revive their interest in life. And by the same token a man's self-confidence and mental alertness are sometimes aided not a little by a fresh shave and well-pressed clothes.

TOSSING IT BACK AND FORTH

"No I didn't," replies Soviet Russia to the American protest that it had violated the recognition pledge not to interfere with the internal affairs of the United States. "Yes, you did," says Uncle Sam in answer to the denial.

In the first protest, Russia was told that "more serious consequences" would follow if the activities of the Communists in this country were not checked. Back comes the statement that the Russian government is not responsible for the doing of the Communist Internationale in America.

This draws the formal retort that this does not fully cover the situation, and that the relations between the two nations will be "seriously impaired" unless the activities are curbed.

So back and forth across the gridiron goes the football, without either side making a goal. The next play is up to Russia, and it will be very much of a surprise if she recedes from her position.

Apparently the only way to end the game is for the United States to demand a "yes" or "no" answer, and if it is "no" to sever trade relations which Russia was so anxious to establish not so long ago.

AN ALBERTA PEACH

We may be thankful for one thing. All of the "fall guys" are not in the United States. In the province of Alberta, Canada, a legislative election was won recently by an ultra-New Deal organization known as the Social Credit League. It is said that the League won nearly all of the sixty-three legislative seats, a few being distributed among the regular parties.

The Social Credit League is headed by a combination evangelist and school teacher. All adult citizens are to get a "credit dividend" of at least $25 a month, to be paid out by the "state creditor house, where an entry of $25 in credit is to be made each month in each credit book possessed by an adult. A wife is entitled to $25 a month as well as her husband.

This sounds almost as good as some of the "share the wealth" plans which have originated in our United States, including fancy looking prospectuses of alleged oil and gold mines. There ought to be a general flocking of indigent households from all parts of Canada into Alberta.

Most charts and analyses of economic conditions in Canada indicate that the Dominion is pulling out of the depression faster than most countries, much faster even than the United States. But evidently that isn't enough.

All of those editorial humorists in our country who have been disposed to poke fun at Doc Townsend and his old age pension plans, had better take a second thought. The plan will not work economically but it has political potentialities. If you don't believe so, send for a copy of the tabulation of the official vote in Alberta in the August election.

Opponents of the scheme to tax government bonds say the nation would be unable to borrow. Is this supposed to be a negative argument?

Far from being unsuccessful in their search for a presidential candidate, the Republicans can't even find anyone who doesn't choose to run.

Although $10,000 is being spent to count the big trees of California, no action has been taken on the proposal to make the GOP hunt for presidential timber, a FERA project.

DO IT NOW!

If you have anything to do, be prompt in doing it.
Don't drag around thinking about it.

The very fact that you step out with vigor and decision is half the battle.

Don't keep talking about it.

It is easy to use up all your energy that way and have none left to really do the deed.

You need not be noisy.

If you are boisterous, it antagonizes those around you.

Because you are enthusiastic you need not weary those who work with you.

Just decide what your job is and then don't hesitate.

Do it quietly and with despatch.

Some are good starters and very poor finishers.

That is one reason why it is well to conserve your strength.

If it is a short job you may be able to get it done in one period.

But if it is a lengthy operation, it will not pay to get too tired.

Divide the work into short rest periods and work with a will.

"Have you no other name?" asked the teacher.

"No," was the answer.

"Has he no other name?" "No," said the boy.

"Then what does your mother call him?" inquired the teacher in desperation.

"Fathead," piped the youngster triumphantly.

Ballot For Two Commissioners At The Primary

Each Party Gets 2 Candidates, 3 Highest At Election Are The Winners

SOME DARK HORSES MAY BE IN FIELD

Three county commissioners are to be chosen at the November election and some confusion exists as to how they are to be selected. It is this way. At the coming primary each party is entitled to nominate two candidates. The two receiving the highest vote on the Republican ticket will be the Republican candidates. The two receiving the highest vote on the Democratic ticket will be the Democratic candidates. So with the other parties. Each can have two candidates, but at the coming primary some of them will have only one.

At the primary, balloting for candidates will be by parties, but at the general election, an elector can vote for one Republican and one Democrat, or two of any of the other parties, irrespective of whether he is registered under the party name of the candidate for whom he casts his vote.

The three candidates of whatever party who receive the highest number of votes will be the three elected. Thus there could be two Republicans elected, and one Democrat or two Democrats, and one Republican if they polled the three highest votes. Formerly it was the custom to allow the Democrats, who were the minority party, to elect one candidate. This was merely through courtesy. The law does not say that the minority party is to have one county commissioner.

The old custom was broken at the last election of county commissioners, when P. R. Woods, who had lost out in his race for the Republican nomination, came out independent, and was elected, being one of the three to receive the highest number of votes.

According to Attorney William McElwee, Jr., counsel for the county commissioners, it would be possible for a candidate whose name was not on the ticket at all to be elected, if a sufficient number of voters would use stickers or write in the name on the ballot. This is not likely to happen, but it would be a possibility.

The office of county commissioner is the only county office for which electors will vote for more than one candidate. For the other offices only one candidate is to be nominated by each party at the primary. The offices for which only one candidate will be nominated are as follows: Judge of the Lawrence county courts; Judge of the Supreme court; Judge of the Superior court; prothonotary; county treasurer; county controller and county coroner.

It is said that there are likely to be some dark horses in the county commissioner race at the general election. They will run on independent tickets.

In the City of New Castle there are two offices for which more than one candidate will be chosen. Electors will vote for two councilmen and three school directors. They will also vote for one mayor and one city treasurer.

One county assessor and one constable will be chosen in all of the different wards of the city. In the fifth, sixth and eighth wards aldermen are also to be elected.

The News by Mail, One Year, $5.00

On Court House Hill

Prothonotary Ralph M. Campbell reports that an even 200 marriage licenses were issued during the month of August. This was 20 more than were issued during July.

Thomas Edmunds, clerk of the registration board, is now assembling the registration cards in books provided for that purpose. One of these books is known as the precinct book, and will be used by the election board at the primary in determining who is eligible to vote. The other is called the master record, and is kept in the office of the registration board. The election board is to use the precinct book in identifying the handwriting of the voter, who must sign a slip when he receives his ballot.

Another activity of that issuing marriage licenses to Ohio couples will be ended in Lawrence county at the end of this month, which goes to show what a spinster, with sour ideas about marriage, can do when she happens to get herself elected to a judicial office and sets forth to make the world over after the pattern of her own invention. The recent session of the legislature, whose members were like putty in the hands of a few women, who wanted the new marriage license law, is also to blame for driving business away from Lawrence county. They did not seem to know, or understand, that a matrimonial knot tied in Maryland binds just as tightly as it does in Pennsylvania, even though the ceremony follows immediately upon the granting of a license, and not after a three day wait as the new Pennsylvania law provides.

Ohio passed a five day marriage law, which means that a couple must wait five days after they ask for a marriage license before it is issued, and as a result thousands of couples have flocked to Pennsylvania. Lawrence county got its share, and the various ministers, aldermen and justices of the peace have reaped considerable benefit from Ohio's legislative foolishness, but now this business will be lost and young couples who chafe under the restrictions placed upon their personal liberties, will have to buy a few more gallons of gas to reach Maryland's Gretna Green. Many of Pennsylvania's young people will join the parade, thus taking away business that legitimately belongs at home. The assumption that a three day wait prevents hasty marriages is all the bunk, according to some of our best minds. If all states had the same law, there might be at least a little excuse for a three day law, but they haven't, and the very people who want to be hastily married won't quibble on a few gallons of gas.

Elkton, Md., has long been a Gretna Green. It is only a town of 3,500 population, but recent statistics show that its marrying business amounts to $70,000 a year. Within a radius of 150 miles, there are the large cities of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, and many smaller places, with parts of New Jersey, Delaware, Virginia and West Virginia. There is one minister at Elkton who has only been there 15 years, who has married 50,000 couples, according to the records. Now that Pennsylvania has joined the states that drive business from the home sod, the ministers and other marrying officials of Elkton can well afford to buy bouquets for legislators who were hypnotized into putting over this latest piece of fool legislation.

Registering Clerk, Thomas Edmunds, has issued a call to all election boards in the city, to meet at the court house on Thursday evening, September 12, for instruction. There are several features in connection with the new registration law that differ from the old, and Edmunds will explain them.

There are now only 21 prisoners in the county jail, according to Deputy Sheriff Elmer Taylor. Three of them are women. There are no murder, or other very serious cases to come up for trial at the September term of quarter sessions court. Juries have been called for two weeks, but it is doubtful if they will be needed all of that time.

The People's National Bank of Ellwood has issued a writ of attachment against Vasil Denko, in which the sheriff is directed to attach any money that may be due the defendant from Community Loan of Ellwood City.

Next Saturday will be the last day on which voters can change their party affiliation at the registration bureau at the court house. There have been few changes so far.

Nancy Carroll To File Divorce Suit

Will Be Listed On Court Calendar At Carson City, Nev., Today

(International News Service)

CARSON CITY, Nev., Sept. 5.—Nancy Carroll, red-headed screen actress, today was to file suit for divorce from F. Bolton Mallory, magazine editor and writer.

The suit has been placed on file under number here, and will be listed as officially filed late in the day. The actress, however, probably will have to remain at least 30 days more in Nevada while service is obtained on Mallory, who is said to be near Acapulco, Mexico.

In her complaint, which charges cruelty and non-support, Miss Carroll also asks absolute title to securities held jointly in her and Mallory's name, but in her possession.

Miss Carroll, who says she cannot recall the name of the Connecticut town in which she married Mallory June 1, 1932, says she has not seen or heard from her husband since he left Hollywood early in 1934.

The actress, who has been accompanied by Patricia Kirkland, daughter of Miss Carroll and her first husband, Jack Kirkland, playwright, denied she plans to remarry.

Organizer Is Found Slain

Examine Steering Wheel Of Automobile For Finger-prints Of Alleged Killer

BELIEVED WORK OF DISGRUNTLED WORKER

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5.—Climaxing a night-long investigation, homicide squad detectives today declared the steering wheel of his automobile may hold the key to the solution of the strange slaying of Joseph Gabriel, 27, organizer and business agent of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

Slumped over the steering wheel, with a bullet through his head, Gabriel was found murdered in his car near the municipal stadium. Investigators believe he was shot by a disgruntled and jobless union member. Working on that theory, detectives are examining the steering wheel in the belief that the assassin fired the fatal shot and then grasped the wheel and guided the car to a stop.

Had Pistol Permit

Although police said the union has been involved in no disputes lately, it was disclosed Gabriel obtained a pistol permit recently because his life had been threatened by an unemployed member. To uphold their theory, authorities pointed out that various agents of the Amalgamated have been charged with displaying favoritism in obtaining jobs for union members.

Police Discounted Theory

Police discounted the theory as the motive after finding a valuable wrist watch and diamond ring on Gabriel's body.

Police To Watch Safety Of 12,000 School Children

Twelve thousand school children will begin a trek to and from school next week, and Chief of Police John F. Haven has perfected arrangements whereby they will be protected at cross-overs near and in front of schools.

In commenting on plans for guarding the lives of the boys and the girls the chief issued a warning to motorists today that speed must be toned down and ordinances pertaining to school zones be obeyed implicitly.

"The majority of motorists do obey the law and practice 'Live and let live', but there always will be a few who have no regard for the rights of other persons," the chief said. "I am asking the motorists to be decidedly careful in operating their cars and to tone down their speed. I also want them to obey all of the ordinances pertaining to operation of cars in school zones.

"Regardless of what anyone says, children now and then will dart into and across streets. They are taught not to do this but children are young and auto drivers should have their cars under control at all times.

"I intend to instruct the police to make arrests of persons who operate their cars in such a manner that the operation is dangerous to school children. No one who drives his car in a same manner will object to this.

"We must protect the children. Therefore, I am asking today that the motorists practice safety first and if they do, they will have contributed something worth while," the chief concluded.

Friend Discovers Body Of Well Known Tin Worker Last Evening

Investigating the absence of F. Edgar Phillips, aged about 60, of 311 Edgewood avenue, last evening, James Fowler, local taxicab operator, discovered Mr. Phillips' body, dead in bed. Friends who had called Mr. Phillips by telephone yesterday finally became alarmed when he did not answer, and asked Mr. Fowler to investigate. He found the door unlocked, when he went to the home last evening, and after looking through the house, came upon Mr. Phillips' body in bed.

A note was found explaining that ill health had prompted him to take the lethal dose.

Mr. Phillips was widely known, having been a roller at the tin mill for a number of years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Laura Phillips, one daughter and two sons.

Funeral services will be conducted on Sunday afternoon at Leyde's funeral home and will be private.

Former Students Of Seventh Grade Meet In Reunion

Former Terrace Avenue Students And Their Teacher Gather At Park

Reviewing their pranks of 1911 and 1912 when they were 7th grade pupils at Terrace Avenue school, sixteen men and women had a hilariously enjoyable time in the grove of Cascade Park, Wednesday at 6 p. m.

They had with them their teacher, Mrs. James Cole, Sheridan avenue, and the reunion was a total success from start to finish. They read letters from the former pupils who were unable to be present, and all took part in sending a letter to Miss Cecilia Lewis, a classmate who is now a missionary in French West Africa. Mrs. Lorraine Monnin Cox was present from Youngstown, O.

Dinner was delicious and was served at a table centered by beautiful roses. The hours were spent informally with delightful reminiscences in which everyone had something to offer.

Much of the credit for the event goes to Harry Sturvant, who was elected president of the reunion organization. Mae Jenkins was elected secretary.

The next reunion will be at Cascade Park on the first Wednesday of August, 1936.

Cardenas Sets Down Program

Mexican President Decries Program For Taking Of Church Property

STRICT POWERS ARE GRANTED

By ARTHUR CONSTANTINE International News Service Staff Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 5.—President Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico today decreed an uncompromising program for nationalization of all church property.

Interpreting the constitution of 1917 as giving the government title to all churches, convents, schools, asylums, seminaries and religious residence, he swept them all—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—under government ownership.

Can Seize Buildings

If any building is to be used for a religious purpose, it belongs to the government, he said. He empowered the finance ministry to take over the buildings, and stated:

"The work of nationalizing the property of the clergy has been the object of continual effort. The economic power of the church has been taken advantage of repeatedly to frustrate the economic and spiritual liberations of the workers."

"They are the property of the nation as represented by the federal government—temples destined for public worship, bishoprics, priests' houses, seminaries, asylums, schools, convents or any other buildings constructed or destined for the propaganda or teaching of religious creeds."

"It is presumed any company is an intermediary religious association when the council or administration includes a priest or when a minister appears as proprietor, owner, or creditor."

Two Types of Ramsey's Roof Coatings

To Suite Your Individual Needs

Ramsey's Asphalt Roof Coating

When the dry-out of the roof is in its early stages, Ramsey's Asphalt Roof Coating quickly restores the roof to excellent condition. Ordinarily it is the most satisfactory roof coating to apply. One gallon covers about 100 square feet of surface.

Ramsey's Asbestos Roof Coating

The asbestos fibre content of Ramsey's Asbestos Roof Coating provides a thicker covering. Recommended where the roof is in a more neglected condition. Tends to congeal in pin holes and provide an extremely durable top surface. One gallon covers about 75 square feet of surface.

Many Awards Made At East Brook Show

Several hundred flower lovers from all parts of Lawrence County, were attracted to the second annual flower show sponsored by the East Brook Garden Club Tuesday evening, in the High School auditorium.

The affair was one of the biggest community projects held in that district for sometime and it was well worthwhile, for the displays were educational, as well as beautiful. Several unusual exhibits were featured among which were mounts of the Japanese beetle, the corn borer and the Dutch elm disease, loaned by the State agricultural department. Rare flowers drew close attention, among these being a summer poinsettia, Mexican gourds ornamentally decorated, African violets, Mexican sunflowers, and occupying a prominent place was a 17 pound squash which had been grown in 1934 by Mrs. Blanche Young.

Other garden clubs had exhibits of baskets of flowers for church decorations, the first prize going to the Mahoning Valley organization, the East Brook Club, second, Mahoningtown, third and East Side fourth. The Juniors had a noteworthy exhibit, showing artistic arrangements both in bouquets and dish gardens.

Interspersing the entertainment provided by viewing the exhibits, several musical numbers were contributed by the Mahoning Play Boys; Ed Palmer, director, Russell Graham, Charles Brown, Ed Campbell and Wilfred Paul. Little Patricia Rolland, pleased with dance and song numbers.

Door prizes were still another feature, with Lou Harlan conducting the drawing contest. Mrs. Kelly of the East Brook Club distributed the gifts which ranged from miniature plants in pretty containers, to large floral bouquets, and plants. Judges for the show were Mrs. W. C. Meacham, Mrs. B. K. Thacker and Mrs. Rebecca E. Royce. Others upon whom great credit reflects for a most successful event were members of the club who formed the general committee: Mrs. Lillian Johns, Mrs. Ida Robinson, Mrs. Edna Kennedy and their capable secretaries, Edna Waddington, Violet Robinson, Mrs. Nannie Black, Mrs.

CARGO OF TOMATOES CRUSHED IN CRASH

HARMONY, Pa., Sept. 5.—Eleven tons of tomatoes were reduced to juice and approximately $400 damage resulted when a truck, carrying the tomatoes to Pittsburgh overturned at the end of the Harmony bridge at 2:30 o'clock this morning.

OUTSTANDING!

Judge Elder W. Marshall

Foremost in qualifications among the Republican candidates for the nomination of Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania is Judge Elder W. Marshall who has served for years with distinction on the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County.

In the prime of life, Judge Marshall is a true Pennsylvanian, coming from a famous Pennsylvania family dating back to Colonial days.

His life is a record of service—to his country as a soldier in the Army during the World War—to the public as a judge on the bench—to young students as an instructor at the University of Pittsburgh Law School—to his family as a devoted father and husband.

He has shown a keen knowledge of the law and of the social and economic problems facing the laboring man, the farmer, the employer and women and children.

In the recent referendum held by members of the Bar of Allegheny County on judicial candidates, Judge Marshall received 1,258 out of 1,427 votes cast. It was the largest vote ever given a candidate in the history of the bar.

Even fair-minded Philadelphians will agree that the County of Philadelphia is not entitled to five seats on the Supreme Court bench. Nomination of Judge Marshall will insure fair representation on our highest court.

When school convenes for the coming term children will be guarded by city traffic police when they cross public highways. According to reports only one accident has occurred to a school child since the service was installed. Years ago, service of this nature would have taken the police out of communication with headquarters but not nowadays. All of the cars and motorcycle are equipped with radio. The police do traffic duty when school convenes in the morning, twice during the lunch period and when sessions adjourn for the day.

There has been an increase of panhandling during the past few weeks by persons who become drunk and then imagine that citizens should hand them a dime to add to their already intoxicated condition. Police will curb this practice immediately.

It is not probable that the dog catcher, Jack Young, will worry very much about stray dogs until the State Department of Agriculture pays him for the work he has already done. His pay comes from ears he collects after he catches and dispatches canines.

Joseph D. Alexander, B. F. Butler and G. R. Thordy, city officials, are at the state capital relative to relief projects. City officials assert it would be impossible for them to have projects put through under the present setup. Save time - with safety on CONCRETE

If you're like the vast majority of drivers, you travel faster on concrete without knowing it! Check up on your next trip and see if it isn't so.

Concrete makes your car run better; lets the motor settle into a sweet, steady hum that literally eats up the miles. It relieves you of tension and fatigue. There are no ruts to fight; no bumps and jolts to tear at the steering wheel; no tendency to skid or slip. Without a conscious thought, you go faster because you know you're safer on concrete!

Of course you know that concrete roads are economical from the standpoint of upkeep. But do you know that they actually cost less to build than other roads of equal load-bearing capacity? And that they cost as much as 2¢ per mile less to drive on than inferior surfaces?

TAKE 736 PASSENGERS OFF CUNARD LINER

Ships Collide Off Portuguese Coast

New British Liner Orion Takes Part In Rescue Of Passengers

STEAMER DORIC DAMAGED IN CRASH

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 5.—All 736 passengers of the Cunard White Star liner Doric, which collided with the French freighter Formigny early this morning off the Portuguese coast, have been removed safely to the British liners Orion and Viceroy of India, it was officially announced today.

It was also stated the sea at the scene of the accident was calm and that complete order prevailed. Damage to the Doric was described as not serious.

The Formigny was reported continuing her voyage to Oran, Algeria, apparently undamaged in the crash. Cunard officials announced the Doric is now proceeding slowly under its own steam toward London.

It was understood the new British liner Orion took off 400 of the Doric's passengers, while the British liner Viceroy of India took off about 300 more. The Orion was reported proceeding to London.

The collision was understood to have damaged the starboard bow of the Doric, all of whose passengers were travelling in one class, and which carried a crew of 500. Members of the crew remained aboard the ship. The collision occurred at about 3 a. m.

Rescue Ship On Maiden Voyage.
The rescue ship Orion was on her maiden voyage, a 24-day pleasure cruise to the Mediterranean.

A radio message from the Orion to its owners, the Orient line, confirmed it had taken off "a number" of the Doric's passengers.

Captain A. C. Grieg was appointed commander of the Doric last April. Immediately following the collision, the Doric sent out an SOS, giving its position.

One hundred and fifty of the passengers aboard the ship had transferred their bookings from the Laurentic, which was in collision August 16 in the Irish sea.

The rescue vessel Orion, owned by the Orient line, is a ship of 24,000 tons.
The Doric, returning from a Mediterranean cruise, sailed for London from Gibraltar Tuesday night. The French vessel sailed from Dunkirk August 30 for Oran, Algeria.
The Cunard White Star liner Doric is a vessel of 16,484 tons, built in 1923 and registered in Liverpool. It is 520 feet long.
The French freighter Formigny is a small vessel of 2,166 tons owned by the Compagnie De Transportation Maritime Et Fluviale. The ship was built in 1915. Its port of registry is Rouen, France.

Lenore Kight Is Secretly Married

Swimming Champion Is Bride Of C. J. Wingard, Of Johnstown, Pa.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 5.—Despite weeks of denials, Lenore Kight, of Homestead, the international amateur swimming champion, and Cleon J. Wingard, of Johnstown, a physical education instructor, have been married, it was learned today.

Slipping away from their homes here last night, they were married at Wellsburg, W. Va., popular haven for eloping sweethearts, and are now enroute to Cincinnati, O., where Wingard has obtained a position. They will make their home there.

For several weeks both had denied they were engaged although Lenore's friends said otherwise. Confirmation of the marriage was given by Charlotte Calderwood, the marriage license clerk, at Wellsburg.

Anna Mae and Johanna Gorman and Louise Clark, who with Lenore, comprise the famous relay team of the Carnegie Library of Homestead, were unable to say whether marriage would disrupt plans for their participation in the forthcoming Olympic games.

The Gorman sisters said Lenore had told them in July after she smashed three more women's swimming marks that she would participate in the Olympic games.

How Will Mussolini Fight?
Airfields And Live Wires.
A Teapot Tempest.
Will Eugenists Explain?
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

MUSSOLINI FOUGHT in the big war as a simple soldier in the trenches, was badly wounded, saw the horrors of war from the bottom.

Now in command, he will see war from the top. How will he manage it? Dispatches say he must do something in a quick drive and make big gains before the rainy season returns seven months hence.

Mussolini's driving power and efficiency that have transformed the fever breeding pontine marshes into homes for Italian families should result in no "seven months" to produce results in Abyssinia. The thing to do is to concentrate on "Conquering Lion of Judah," otherwise the Negus or "Power of Trinity."

IN THE PAST kings and emperors could stay carefully, safely from the fight, sending other men. "My Last Moujik," as the late Czar of Russia put it, to fight for them. That time is past. Planes, gas and bombs will carry war to the Royal Palace.

Mussolini's airplanes will concentrate on the probable residence of Ethiopia's "Conquering Lion," and the "Power of Trinity" will soon become tired of war and tired of Mussolini.

MAKE IT CLEAR that modern war means "the ruler of the country first, the little people afterward," and war will not last long. The "Conquering Lion" has expressed willingness, almost eagerness, to die for his country, but that must not be taken too literally.

NEAR BURBANK, CAL., a plane crashes. Three occupants, two pilots and a stewardess, burn to death, after striking a live wire.

It has been said "alcohol and gasoline do not mix well," meaning that men should not drive when drunk.

Airfields and live wires do not mix well, either. The Department of Commerce, ruling aviation and exercising admirable rules, might include among the latter a live wire against exposed live wires near airfields. The airfield should be moved, or the live wire put underground, at places where planes rise or land.

Secretary Daniel C. Roper, of the Department of Commerce, will attend to that if the law will let him. Life is quite full of a number of things without making the airplane passenger wonder about live wires in his path.

THERE IS AN unnecessary fuss about American business men having secured in Abyssinia rights to develop oil and mineral wealth. An American should be able to go shopping, at his own risk and on his own responsibility, wherever he chooses, as Englishmen do, without having the State Department indulge in "fits."

If one of the great American organizations, Standard Oil, du Pont, or another, undertakes to do business in Ethiopia, it will not ask Uncle Sam to send over any of "Our Boys" to shed their blood.

BIG INDUSTRIAL institutions have a better way. They hire natives, pay them well, establish hospitals, cut down the death rate, build schools and they keep their contracts.

If Standard Oil or du Pont went to Abyssinia, hiring natives, paying them regularly, supplying them with shoes, which the Ethiopian minister himself has never worn, at least half the population would say to Mussolini:

"Take our so-called 'liberty,' if you choose, and our Negus, about whom we know little, but whom we don't disturb those Americans that pay regular wages."

STRANGE SIGHT in a New York court, one boy, nine years old, accused of killing a girl by hitting her on the head with a stone, because she denied his assertion that he could eat more peaches than she could. Another little boy of 12, also a killer of a playmate, appeared in the same court.

The nine-year-old boy seemed quite unconcerned except that he thought his dog "Lucky" would be lonesome without him.

Prosecuting authorities accuse the nine-year-old boy of murder, but hanging or drawing and quartering for children are part of the past.

Will strikiculturists and eugenists explain this youthful crime phenomena?

THE DEPARTMENT of Commerce believes that the loss of Will Rogers and Wiley Post was caused by "ice in the carburetor." In a plane properly constructed, that would have been of little importance.

In a recent flight across the continent, the pilot remarked, when 12,000 feet up:

"Ice is gathering around my carburetor."

Then casually he turned a little contrivance that supplied the carburetor with plenty of heat from the exhaust, and melted the ice.

ON THE Great Salt Desert, about which you have read, an immense expanse of smooth salt just west of the Great Salt Lake, Sir Malcolm Campbell accomplished his plan to drive an automobile 300 miles an hour. He sent his powerful automobile, "Bluebird," once at a speed of 299.875 miles per hour, and again at a speed of 304 miles.

The achievement is important as showing what gas engines CAN do, and what railroads MAY do, when they learn to use their rights of way with light equipment.

As regards automobile manufacture, the speed is of no consequence since it could not possibly be used. (Copyright, 1935, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. International copyright and all other rights reserved.)

Electric Men Plan Campaign

Delegates To State Electric Association Gird Selves For Battles

(International News Service)
BEDFORD SPRINGS, Pa., Sept. 5.—After hearing a denunciation of government ventures into business, several hundred delegates at the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Electric Association here today girded for a campaign to halt government for publicly owned and operated light and power plants.

Addressing the delegates, E. W. Judy, of Pittsburgh, president of the association, urged the power men to prepare to combat "unfair practices" of municipal ventures into business fields.

Declaring the depression had fostered discontent and radicalism, Judy declared:

"These people, who because of their and the public's lack of knowledge of the intricate problems of the electric utility industry or motivated by the desire to capitalize on the condition of the time, preach the doctrine of public ownership."

"It seems odd that this condition could develop in a country where the electric light and power industry has done so much to increase the standard of living to a point higher than that of any other people."

OUR YESTERDAYS

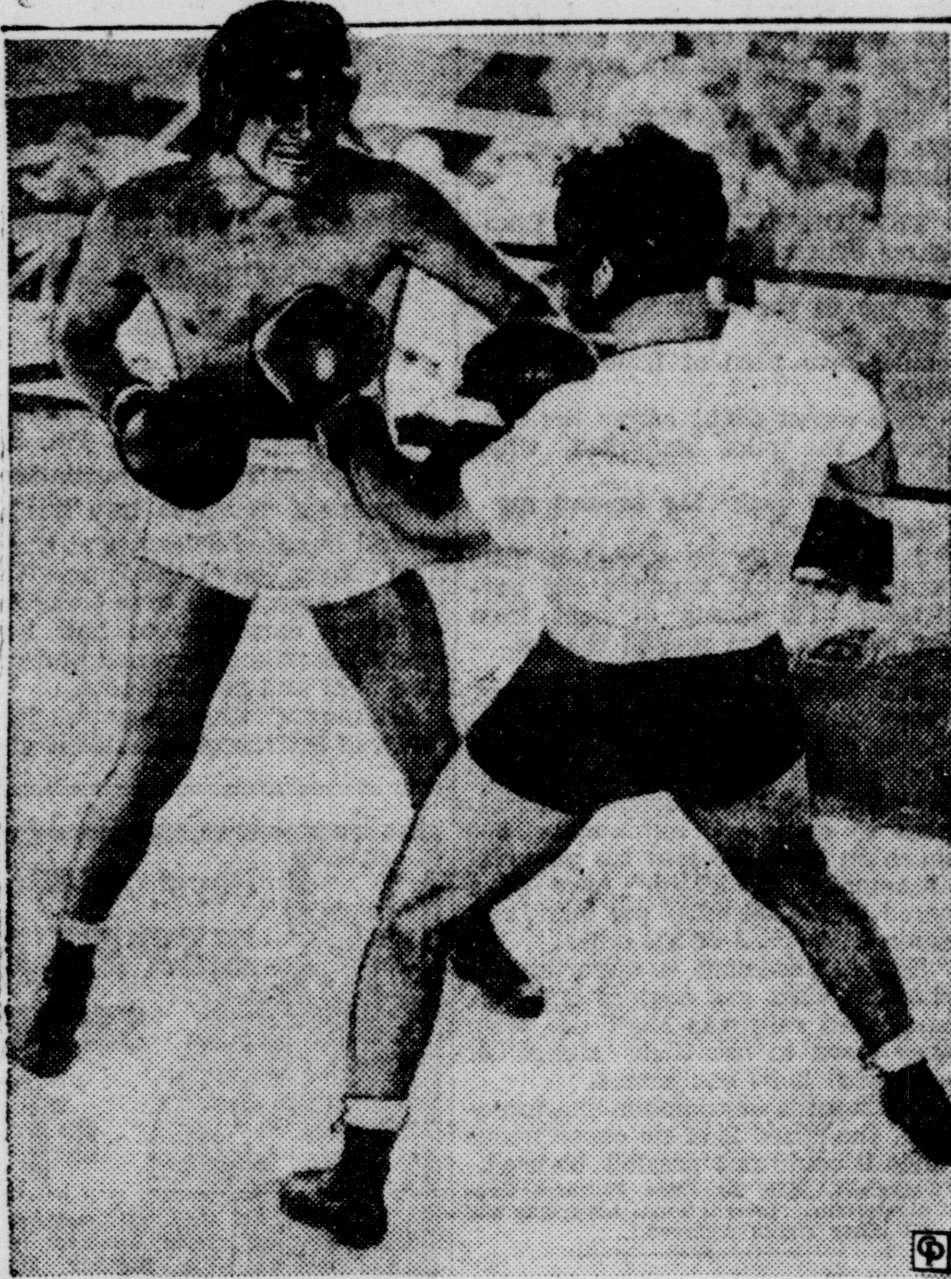

When Harding Popularized Word "Normalcy" During the Political Campaign of 1920

Former President Harding making campaign speech at his home.

FOR THE grammarians, the political campaign of 1920 was an important one. It was in that campaign that the now popular descriptive word "normalcy," meaning normality or the state of being normal, first was brought into prominence. The word was popularized by the late President Warren G. Harding in his famous front-porch campaign. Harding did not originate the word, as is often supposed, but he used it so effectively that it became widely used. He used the word in his speech accepting the nomination to the presidency which was delivered at his home town, Marion, O., on July 22, 1920. In the speech Harding said: "We must stabilize and strive for normalcy, else the inevitable reaction will bring its train of sufferings, disappointments and reversals." The slogan, "Back to Normalcy," was employed by the Republicans during the campaign, which brought Harding the presidency.

Wings for Italy's Ethiopian Conquest

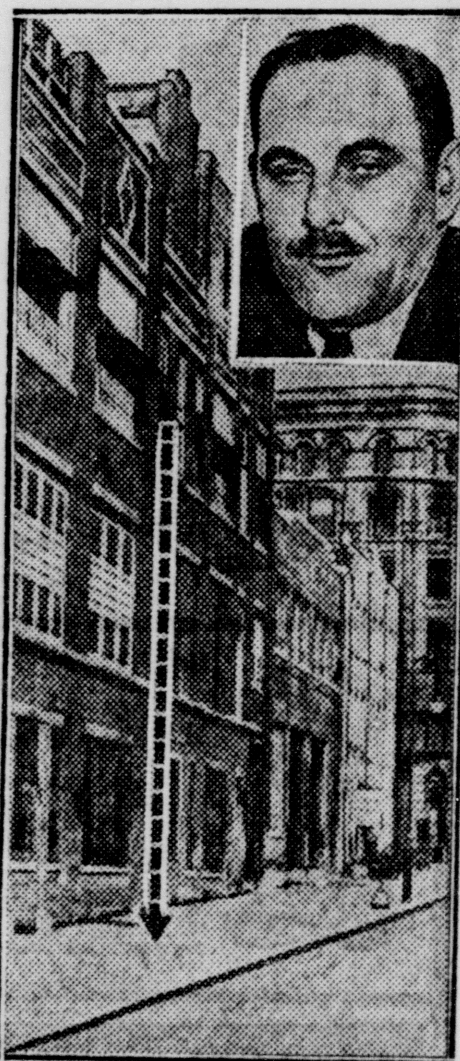

Added evidence that Italy's threat to Ethiopia is no bluff and that war in West Africa is imminent is this photo, snapped on the quayside at Naples, showing Italian war planes being loaded on a transport for convenient bases in Eritrea and Italian Somaliland. Much of the attempted "conquest" of Ethiopia, if war comes, is expected to be carried on by Italy's air forces. (Central Press)

Hollywood Scions Inherit Parents' Good Looks

Proof of biologists' contention that beauty is an inherited rather than an acquired characteristic, is offered in Hollywood, where offspring of noted film stars are found to be unusually attractive children. Here are some of screenland's scions pictured at party given by Mrs. Wesley Ruggles, nee Arline Judge. Top: Richard Arlen, Jr. (left), and Manny Robinson, son of Edward G. Robinson. Below: Jack Woody, Jr. (left), son of Helen Twelvetrees, and the three children of Bing Crosby and Dixie Lee: Philip, Gary and Michael. (Central Press)

In Daring Jail Break

"Count" Victor Lustig (above), notorious swindler, is sought after daring daylight escape from Federal Detention Prison in New York. He slid down rope of sheets from third floor after posing as window cleaner. (Central Press)

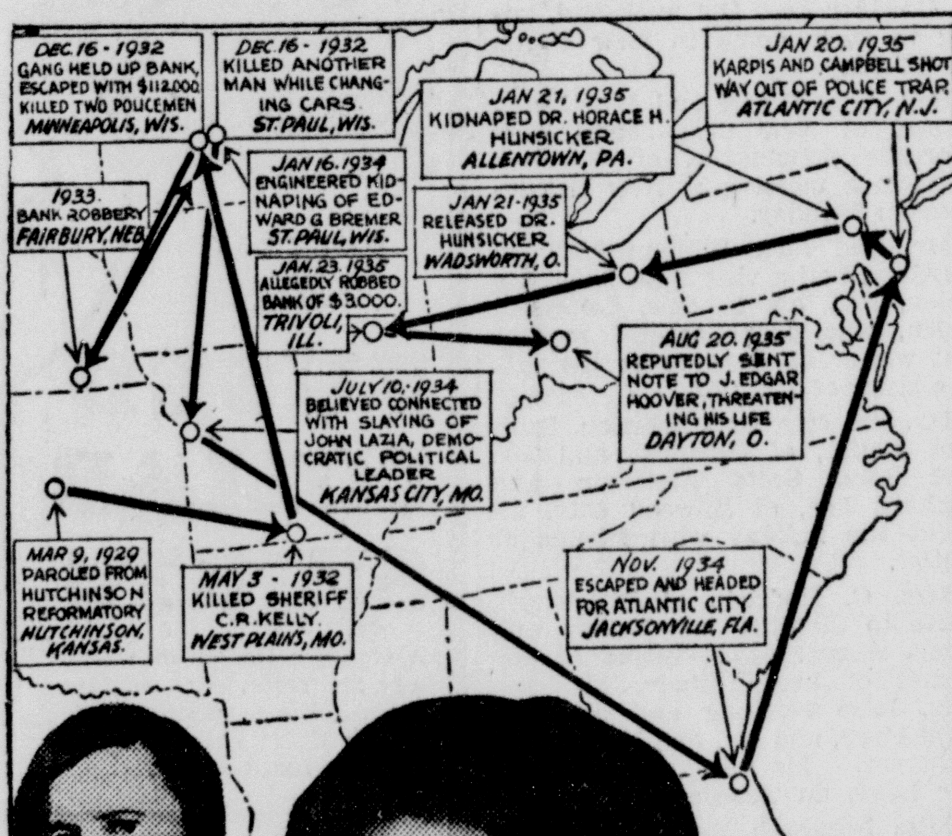

Police Broadcaster

Mrs. Pearl R. Hooks

Mrs. Pearl R. Hooks is believed to be the only feminine police radio broadcaster in the United States. From 8 a. m. until 5 p. m., daily she broadcasts crime reports over a short wave station in Shreveport, La. Several patrolmen tried for the post when the station went on the air, but Mrs. Hooks was voted to have the clearest voice.

Karpis Capture Believed Near

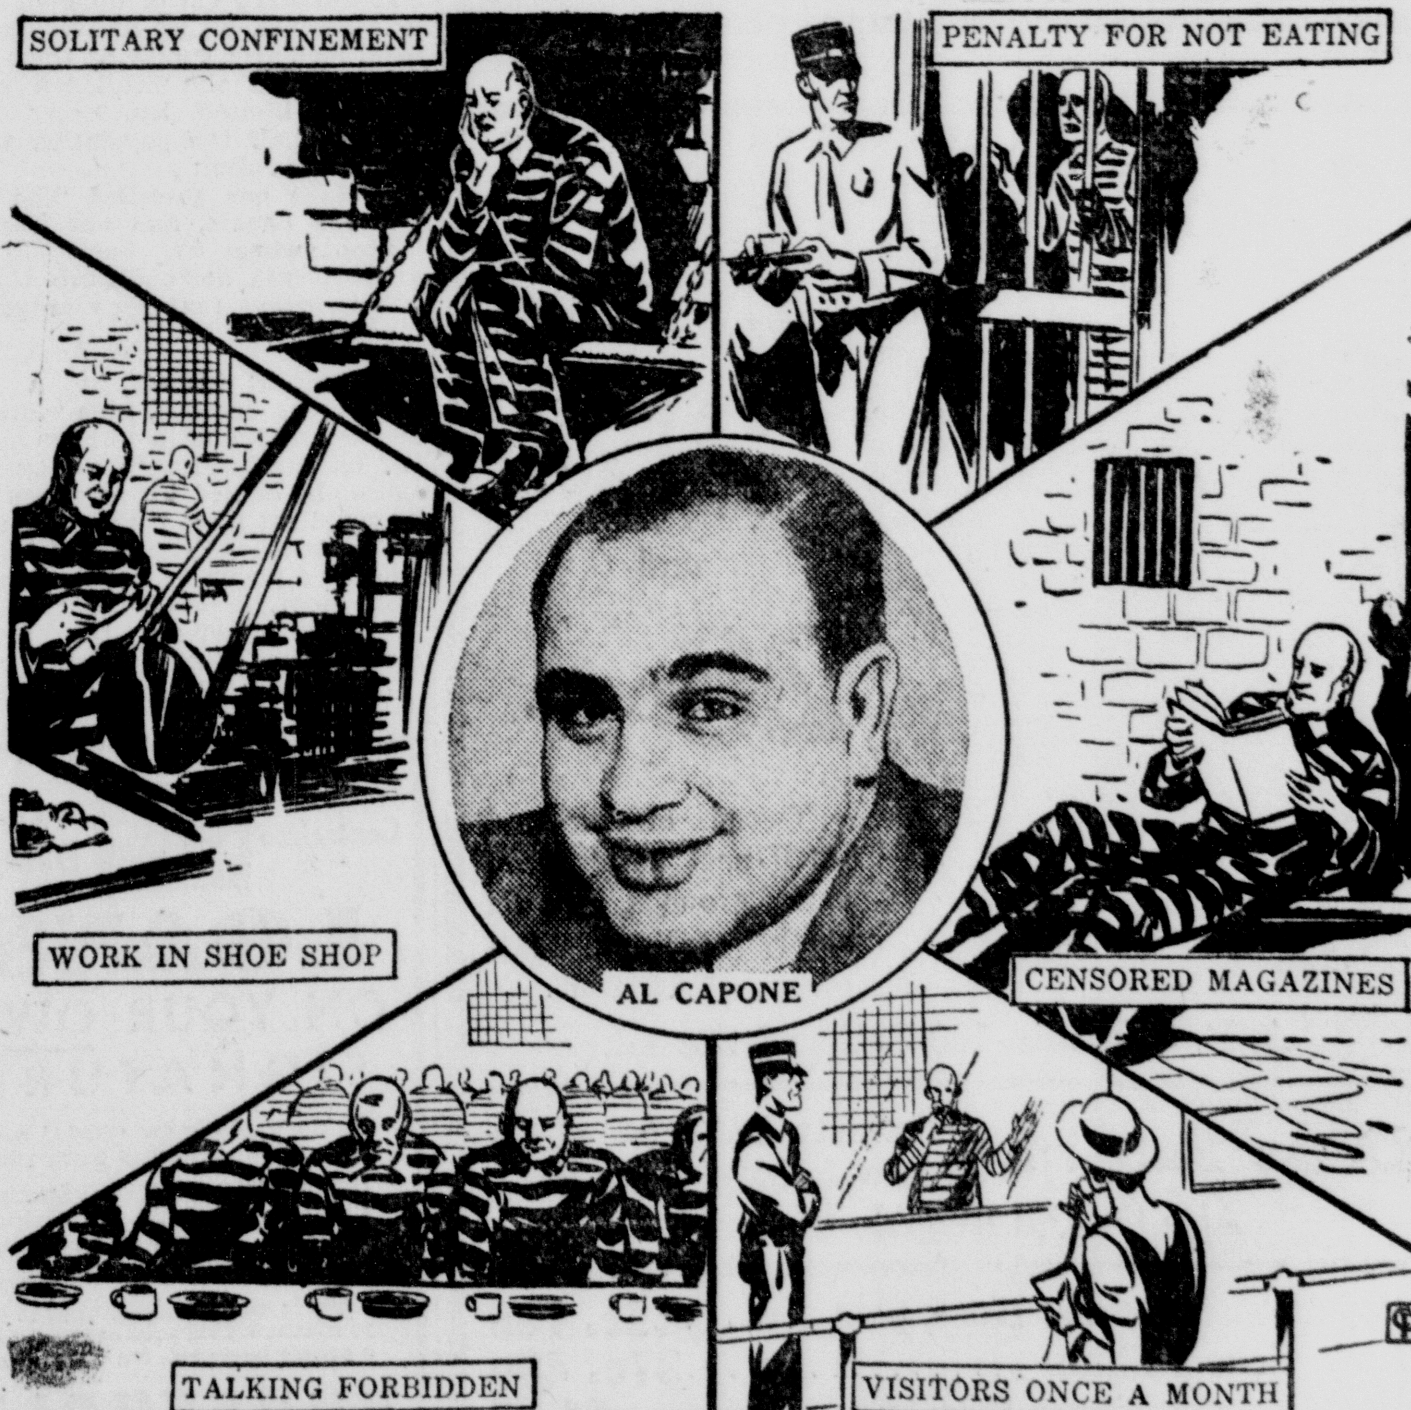

"Ma" Barker, above, and son, Fred Barker

Alvin Karpis

Harry Campbell

Alvin Karpis, who allegedly sent a threatening letter to J. E. Hoover, chief G-Man, has signed his death warrant, it is indicated by cases of the Public Enemies No. 1. John Dillinger sent sarcastic notes to Hoover. He was shot to death. George (Machine Gun) Kelly threatened to kill every one connected with the Urschel kidnaping case. Floyd sent emissaries and sentenced to life imprisonment. "Pretty Boy" Floyd sent emissaries and sentenced to life imprisonment. "G-men" in an Ohio cornfield. Karpis, and his henchman, Harry Campbell, now are only notable members of Karpis-Barker gang still at large. (Central Press)

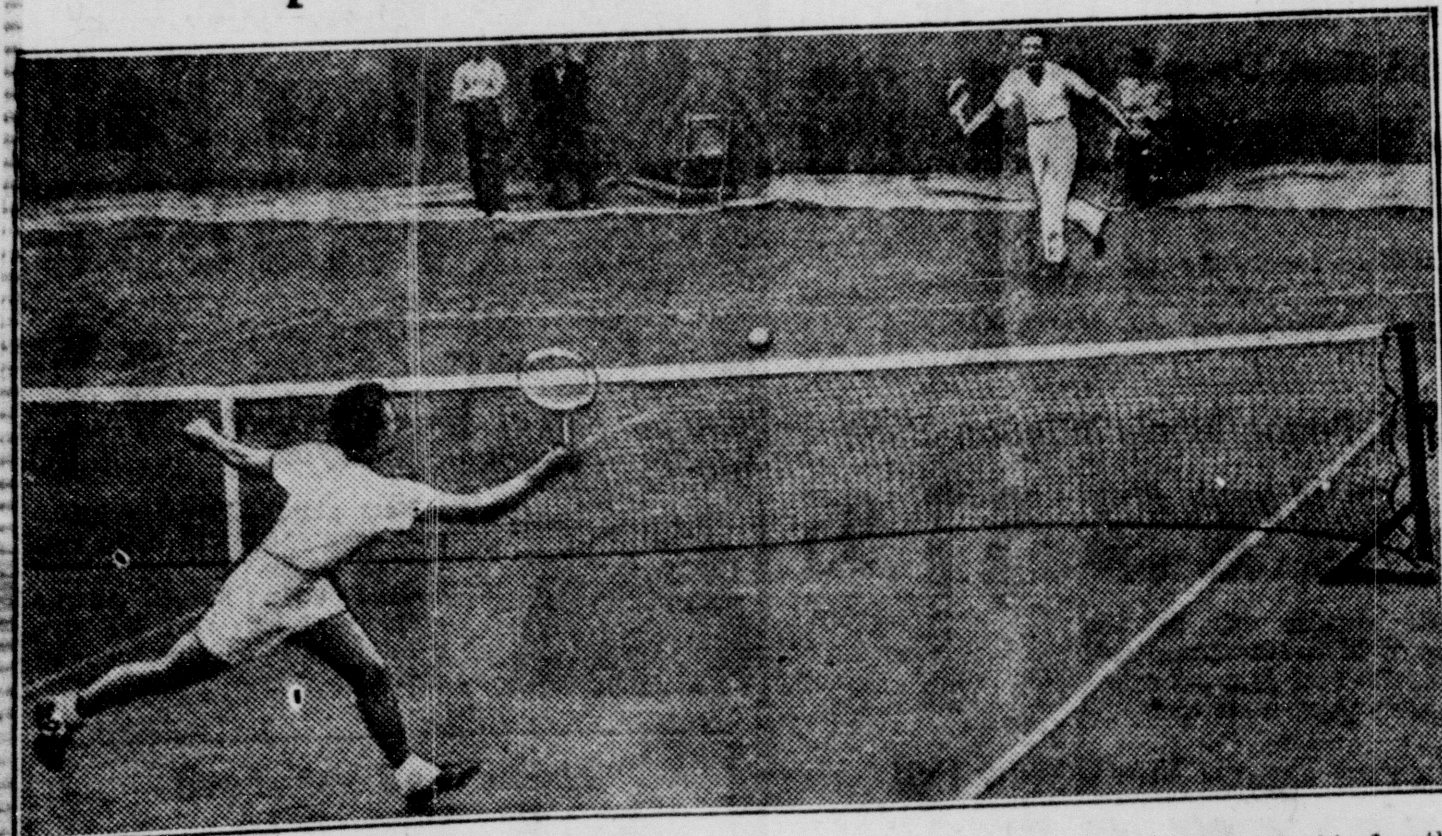

CAPONE FINDS LIFE IN ALCATRAZ ONE OF SEVERITY

Rigid rules at Alcatraz prison, where Al Capone of Chicago, former Public Enemy No. 1, is serving a sentence for income tax evasion, are described vividly by William H. Ambrose, former gangster recently released from the Pacific island penitentiary for deportation. Solitary confinement is the penalty for talking, the rule of silence being lifted only on Saturday afternoons. If a convict leaves food on his plate he misses the next meal. Magazines may be purchased, but they are strictly censored, articles about crime, prisons or detectives being torn out. Visitors are allowed for 45 minutes once a month, and they must be relatives. There are no radios or newspapers. Ambrose reported Capone, who recently was working in the shoe shop, was "burning up at the rules but not losing his mind or cracking up". He said Capone had been in solitary several times for talking. Ambrose added that this American "Devil's Island" was the "toughest" prison he ever had been in, and that its severity caused men to fear loss of mind.

Champ Maintains Pace in Title Tourney

Although Frankie Parker, in foreground, youthful tennis star, extended himself to the limit in his fourth round match of the national championships at Forest Hills, L. I., against Fred Perry, of England, defending champion, he failed to halt Perry's steady march toward the finals. The two are shown here during the match which went to Perry 6-4, 6-2, 6-0. School Children Continue Strike

School Children At Crescent Heights, Near California, Pa., Fight For Principal

(International News Service)
CALIFORNIA, Pa., Sept. 5.—While their former coal-miner-principal looked on from his temporary post in the power house of a nearby mine, striking pupils of the Crescent Heights school today carried on their battle for his return to the school, aided by the promise of their parents that the fight may be taken to Harrisburg.

The students went on strike Tuesday protesting the dismissal of David Smith, their principal. The walkout of more than 400 of the school's 450 pupils had the approval of mothers and fathers of the students, anxious to see the popular principal returned to his position.

Smith, a former coal miner, was reported to have become the most successful principal the mining town ever had within the space of the single year he has served. To insure his return this year, a special petition was circulated and presented to the school board. When it was learned Smith's contract had not been renewed last month, the townspeople rallied to his support.

Lincoln School Reunion Plans Are Maturing

Annual Reunion Is To Take Place At Ben Franklin This Year

Committees in charge of details for the annual Old Timer's Lincoln school reunion, which is to take place in the Benjamin Franklin junior high school on September 13 at 7 p. m. are confident that this will be the greatest reunion the organization has ever had.

This reunion, for all former pupils, teachers, their friends and parents, who attended the Lincoln school before 1900, will take place at the junior high instead of the Lincoln-Garfield school house on Long avenue. It will be noted. The change is a happy one for there will be larger and more comfortable seating accommodations offered by the junior high auditorium and better automobile parking facilities.

Former teachers will be guests of honor. Harry Clark is president of the reunioners.

Despondent Man Suicide Victim

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 5.—Jacob Ams, of North Braddock, a war veteran, might have been alive today if Cleveland police had given detectives here his correct address.

While Pittsburgh detectives sought him at the wrong address, Ams, despondent and unemployed, committed suicide.

Pittsburgh detectives were asked to find Ams after his worried relatives in Cleveland notified police the man took a .32 caliber revolver with him when he left after a visit. Cleveland authorities asked police here to look for him here at 1534 Oak street and obtain the revolver. The address was North Braddock, not Pittsburgh.

CENTERVILLE, PA., IS NOW DEBT FREE

(International News Service)
BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 5.—Centerville councilmen looked the world straight in the face today. Retiring $5,500 in outstanding indebtedness, the councilmen cleared the books of all obligations and have made the little borough debt free.

Accessories, Tires, Parts

THERE'S another war on out at the Fleetwing Dewberry camp, brought about when one of the boys left his tube of white shoe polish on the medicine shelf and Frank brushed his teeth with it. He was a little bit out of his mind, but the trouble wasn't in this error but developed when mamma served wheat cakes for breakfast and casually asked how the head of the house felt after cleaning his teeth with shoe polish. "O.K." said Fleetwing, "especially since I started eating these leather cakes." It was a mean slam and mamma threw the balance of the cakes out to the chickens. Now Fleetwing has to square himself and is on a still hunt for a spinning wheel. Do any of you folks know where he could buy or trade an early model one? free wheeling spinning wheel, equipped with balloon tires, hydraulic brakes and guaranteed to go 50 miles on a gal of Fleetwing gas. 11-6

Several Weeks In Stock Market TodayGAINS RUN TO FOUR POINTSBy LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The stock market today staged the broadest rise in weeks under heavy buying which at one time sent the ticker a minute behind.

Gains ran to as much as 4 points in American Can, and advances of 1 and 2 points were common. Many leading issues hit new highs for the year and included Chrysler, up 2 points; Westinghouse, up nearly 3; Johns Mansville, Case Threshing, Douglas Aircraft, and the traction.

President Roosevelt's move for economy in government with his declaration that the emergency was over was a factor. Along with this went a bullish iron age review of the steel industry, a big jump in rail-road traffic and forecasts that the auto industry would soon start volume production on new models. Power output was cut by the holidays.

Bullish sentiment was apparent at the opening, in contrast to the nervousness of recent sessions, and reflected the bulge in yesterday's late dealings. Leading issues started off strong and active, and extended their gains as the session wore on.

Steels lagged for a while but came forward later as U. S. Steel and Bethlehem rose over a point each. The heavy buying in Chrysler, yesterday's late favorite, attracted large orders in General Motors which rose nearly a point. Low-priced issues were better. Bendix was heavily bought and rose to a new high in the accessories.

N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific and Pennsylvania were in demand in the rails at rising prices but gains were not large.

The 2-point jump in Case Threshing brought large-scale activity in other farm implements. Mail orders were strong and active.

New York City Traction spurted under the leadership of I. R. T. and Manhattan, the latter up 2 points. Unification rumors were again the factor.

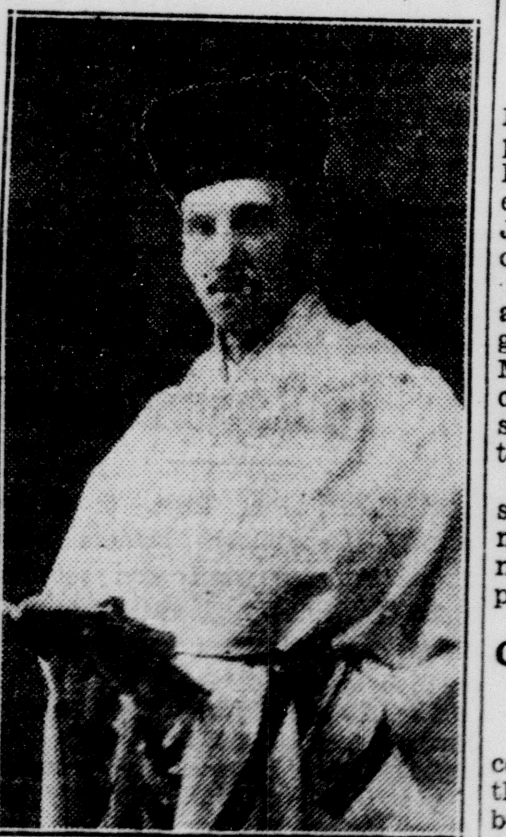

Utilities were firm but were not prominent in the dealings. DuPont with a 3-point run-up set a fast pace in the chemicals. Oils were steady. U. S. Smelting rose a point in the mines.

Cotton improved and grains were stronger. Bonds forged ahead while the dollar continued strong.

RABBI PINCHOS KATZ

Announcement of the arrival in New Castle of the new leader of the Tifereth Israel congregation, Rabbi Cantor Pinchos Katz, of Winnipeg, Canada, is made today by the secretary of the congregation, Julius Alperin.

Rabbi Katz comes to New Castle from Medicine Hat, Alberta, Canada, where he occupied the pulpit of a synagogue for two years, having previously been with the Regina, Sask., synagogue.

The new leader, the secretary states, has won the esteem and respect of Western Canada for his humanitarian work and fine attitude towards all denominations. He is also well known as a talented singer, having served as cantor in some of the finest and largest synagogues in Canada and the United States.

Rabbi Katz left his home city, Winnipeg, thirteen years ago to begin study for the ministry. He attended the Orthodox Rabbinical Seminary of New Haven, Conn., the Talmudical Yeshiva of Cleveland, and completed his studies at the Hebrew Theological College of Chicago.

The rabbi is now making preparations organizing the Sunday school of the congregation and planning for the upcoming Rosh-Hashana holidays (Jewish New Year).

Night School To Open Next Week
In Ellwood CityRegistrations To Be Held In Lincoln Building September 9, 10, 11

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 5.—Registration for the fifth consecutive year for Ellwood City Night school, will be held September 9, 10, 11 from 7:00 to 9:00 in the Lincoln Building. The first classes will meet Thursday night, September 12, from 7 to 10 and will continue each Monday and Thursday for thirty weeks.

Beginning in 1931 with six subjects being taught to less than 100 students the school has grown so that last year eleven subjects were offered to more than 300 students. The administration is looking forward to a student body of 500 students if enthusiasm and interest are any indication of enrollment. Last year in several of the courses students were turned away because of crowded classes but arrangements have been made to take care of this condition.

The following courses will be offered this year, shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, English, Americanization, French, sewing, gymnasium for men and women, cabinet making and mechanical drawing. These courses are chosen because of their value to the majority of Ellwood City people, and because of the enthusiasm shown toward them by former students. All courses given in Night School will carry High School credit providing the work accomplished by the student is satisfactory. A pleasing number of people are taking advantage of this feature to acquire sufficient credit for a high school diploma. Four of the night school students received their diplomas last year.

All students who register must pay a registration fee of $2.50 before entering class. This fee is a guarantee of good faith as it is returned if the student attends 75 per cent of his or her classes. More than 200 fees were returned to the students last year.

Additional information will appear in subsequent issues giving more detailed information regarding each course.

Federal Probe
Into Disaster
On Florida KeysPresident Roosevelt Orders
Full Investigation Into Deaths In Hurricane

(International News Service)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 5.—President Roosevelt today ordered an inquiry as to why the veterans who perished in the Florida hurricane were not rescued in time and why proper precautions had not been taken for their safety.

Col. George E. Ijams, (CQ), of the veterans administration, and a man yet to be designated by Relief Administrator Hopkins will undertake the investigation.

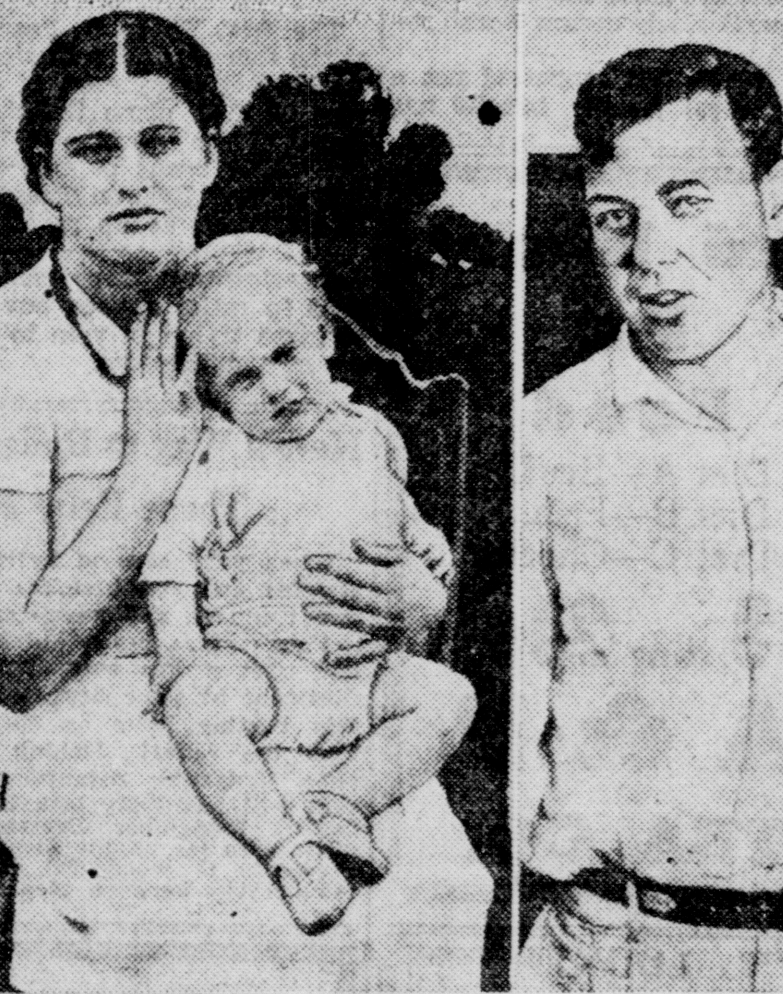

Hines Set Orders
Distressed over the loss of life in veterans' camps on the Florida Keys, the president telephoned General Frank T. Hines, head of the veterans administration, and directed him to designate an assistant to proceed immediately to the storm area.

Hines promptly designated Col. Ijams, who, working with army, navy, Red Cross and other agencies, will first see that all injured veterans are promptly hospitalized.

He also will arrange for caskets for the dead and transportation of the bodies either to Arlington for funerals with full military honors or to their homes if the relatives desire. Work then will be started immediately on rehabilitation of the survivors.

Pope Reports To White House

Believe Senator Is Not Investigating Conditions In Europe On His Own

BEING BUILT UP AT BORAH'S EXPENSE

Central Press Washington Bureau 1900 S Street
By CHARLES P. STEWART
WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Notwithstanding Senator James P. Borah's declaration that he is traveling in war-threatened Europe at his own expense, purely as a private American citizen and in no sense as an unofficial investigator for the White House, the story persists in Washington that he makes daily reports to President Roosevelt.

Just why he should have been chosen (if he was so chosen) for the role of a Rooseveltian "Colonel House" is not altogether apparent. There has been nothing to indicate that the present tenant of the executive mansion trusts him to the same extraordinary extent that President Wilson trusted the Texas colonel. Neither has Senator Pope any special reputation as an expert on overseas relationships, though a junior member of the senate foreign affairs committee.

ONE THEORY
One theory is that, whether or not the administration greatly relies on the Idaho senator's judgment, it desired to give the impression that it vastly esteems him, in the hope of making him overshadow his fellow Idaho senator, Senator William E. Borah.

It isn't, indeed, admitted by the Democratic leadership that the White House is more anxious to beat Borah for re-election next year than it is anxious to defeat any other Republican, in a Democrat's favor. Nevertheless, there are many signs that it particularly desires Borah retired.

True, Borah has supported not a few New Deal policies, but he has opposed some, and opposed them with much more than the average senator's potency. He has done more harm than good, in fact, in the administration's estimation.

Besides, he is a dangerous presidential possibility.

"DEFLATING BORAH?"
Among other ways of deflating Borah (if it can be done at all) would be the method of making his co-senator from Idaho look, comparatively, bigger than he looks. The plan seems to have been tried. It didn't work very well. Perhaps it was bungled.

Senator Pope departed for Europe too soon, with congress still in session, able to criticize him. He also made the mistake of talking prematurely—giving out an interview in London in which he predicted that the United States would be drawn into any war that Europe gets into.

It may be a good guess, but it was politically untimely.

A "SLAM"
It enabled the senate to pass on a resolution to the effect that Senator Pope was speaking for himself alone—that he wasn't speaking for congress or the country, and, especially, that he wasn't in a position to speak as a "Colonel House" of the Roosevelt administration.

The resolution wasn't adopted, to be sure.

It was too much of a reflection on the administration to be adopted by an administration congress, not to mention Senator Pope.

Nevertheless, it was a slam at "Colonel House-ism."

NOT A "FIXER"
Senator Pope evidently hasn't Colonel House's craft as a fixer. Or maybe the times are different. The senator has muffed his chance, anyway.

The neutrality law, which congress enacted just before adjourning, incidentally has cramped the administration considerably. It doesn't prevent American participation in foreign wars, but it hampers it.

Woman Refuses To Quit Post

Mrs. Katharine Riggs Of McKeesport, Defies Earle's Resignation Request

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 5.—Gov. George H. Earle encountered difficulties in his attempt to obtain the resignation of Mrs. Katharine W. Riggs, of McKeesport, as a trustee of the mother's assistance fund of Allegheny county.

Not only did Mrs. Riggs refuse to resign but she was considerably riled. So she wrote the governor: "My resignation for yours, my dear governor."

"You were elected for a definite term. I was appointed for a definite term. Neither your term nor mine has expired. Being an ardent advocate of equal rights, you surely will not deny me the same right which you attempt to exercise. As thousands of good Republicans would appreciate your resignation, it is not strange that one Democrat should appreciate mine."

Anger Aroused
Her anger aroused, Mrs. Riggs, a Pinchot appointee, called the governor's request "presumptuous." Pointing out she received no salary, she concluded passionately: "My resignation will go forward when the flowers refuse to turn to greet the rising sun, when the tides of the ocean cease to ebb and flow when the stars are not true to their appointed course—when the president fulfills his campaign promises."

Attaches in the governor's office at Harrisburg declined to comment but they indicated wearily that as in many other cases when Republican members of boards and commissions refused to make way for Democrats Mrs. Riggs will soon be dismissed.
